

SOS CHILDREN'S VILLAGES PAKISTAN

January, 2018

Dear Friends,

It is time to, once again, send you greetings for the New Year from all of us associated with SOS Children's Villages Pakistan, and update you on developments over the past year. May 2018 be happy and healthy for you and your dear ones, prosperous for Pakistan and bring peace and stability to troubled regions all over the world. Our hearts go out to countless people displaced from their homes, existing in dangerous and difficult circumstances, and under conditions we cannot even begin to imagine. We can only be grateful for our own good fortune and pray for an end to the suffering of all those in distress.

Thanks to your support, SOS continues to prosper and maintain steady progress. There has actually been a spurt in our growth, subsequent to our decision to establish projects for children of women-headed families. In my last newsletter I mentioned that we have taken a decision to address this major social problem and establish separate projects for these children. Our regular criteria excludes children with mothers because of the detrimental effect of separation on a child. The new projects will relieve the women of their children's responsibility and enable them to earn a living, while providing full access to them and home visits on weekends. The pilot project was opened in Lahore two years ago, and we plan to establish these 'satellites' in every city in which we are operating. Homes have been opened in rented accommodation in Abbottabad and Karachi and the first phase of a purpose-built facility, in Kharian, will be ready for occupancy in the spring. This has been donated by the Brigadier Sahib Dad Khan Welfare Trust which is constructing a complex of projects on land made available by the family. Such generosity is typical of the amazing spirit of altruism in our nation which enables the provision of desperately needed services to the less advantaged. Not only are people generous with their monetary assistance, there is also a remarkable culture of volunteerism. We, and others like us, benefit greatly from this spirit of giving and the difference it makes in the field of social service is remarkable. This is an immense credit to our nation, and heart-warming, when one is surrounded by so much negativity. I would like to express sincere gratitude to all our supporters, both the donors and the volunteers who serve on our committees and enable us to maintain standards of excellence. Special thanks are due to our overseas support groups in the UK, USA, Canada and Kuwait who publicize our work and collect funds for child sponsorship and construction of new projects.

High on our list of positive developments in the past year, is the appointment of Mrs. Saba Faisal as National Director, SOS Children's Villages Pakistan. She is a tremendous asset to the organization, being a qualified and experienced administrator, with great concern for child welfare. We welcome her to the SOS family and look forward to continued progress and growth under her leadership.

I will present an overview of recent developments, on-going work and future plans, and reports from the various projects will follow.

The SOS Children's Village Khairpur was opened last February- even though only five homes had been completed- and there are already 80 children in residence. Of the remaining ten homes, which are now nearing completion, six have been donated through the USA support group. The government has been very generous in their support of this project and have now also gifted us an old building, adjacent to the Village. This will be renovated to serve later as a youth facility for adolescent boys.

The Youth Home in Abbottabad has been demolished and a new one is being constructed on the same site. This has been designed like all our new youth facilities, with separate units housing 12 boys each. While the construction is on-going, the Chairperson, Mrs. Khola Mustafa has generously accommodated 42 boys in her school, Iqra Academy.

The Youth Home in Lahore is housed in an old, pre-partition building and we will shortly start construction of a new facility. This is being financed entirely by our support group in the USA.

Work is progressing well on the SOS Hermann Gmeiner Primary and High Schools and College in Dhodial. These will be completed by June and provide quality education to over 1200 students. This project has been mainly funded by a generous donor in the UK.

In Sialkot, the SOS Hermann Gmeiner High Schools were completed last year and the Primary School is now reaching completion. This complex has also been donated by a supporter in the UK.

Expansion of the SOS Multan Institute of Technology is in progress and will be completed by June. The Multan committee is doing a remarkable job in raising funds for all their projects, spearheaded by the Mughis Sheikh family. The construction of a project for the children of single mothers is now being planned.

The construction of a Girls' High School and Primary School will shortly commence in the premises of the new SOS Children's Village in Sundgran Muzafarabad. Funds for the two schools are being raised by our support groups in the UK and USA.

Future projects are the SOS Children's Village Chakwal, youth facilities in Sialkot, Jamshoro and Khairpur and community schools in Jamshoro and Khairpur.

Our journey of 42 years has been exciting and most rewarding. When it began there was no way we could have predicted the outcome of our efforts but, by now, are convinced that there is no dearth of goodwill in Pakistan for deserving causes. With 56 projects around the country - 28 exclusively for orphans - and many more planned, we are proud of the impact we are making on the welfare sector. But none of this would be possible without your help.

On behalf of the thousands of children who are getting a chance in life, we extend sincere gratitude for your concern and look forward to your continuing support. Thank you for taking the children into your hearts and giving them hope for the future - enabling them to stand on their feet and become contributing members of society. Without your assistance we could have done little but together we are doing so much. Please continue to support us generously and we will, inshallah, take this mission to even greater heights in the years ahead.

Very warm regards to all of you. May you be blessed for your compassion and your concern!

Yours sincerely,

Sourya Anwar
President
